

Unlock your leadership potential today

rhr[®]

About us

For nearly 80 years, RHR International has been a globally respected leadership consulting firm comprising of behavioural scientists and practitioners dedicated to helping CEOs, board members, executives, business teams, and HR professionals master the art and science of leadership.

Our solutions use the combined power of psychology, business expertise, and the newest technologies to solve complex leadership challenges through world-class assessments and coaching and development programmes.

Our experience

Our clients range from Fortune 500 companies to Silicon Valley start-ups and private family businesses. For 80 years, we have helped leaders excel in both public and private markets across all industry sectors.

Our focus

We specialise in five key areas to help your leaders acquire the knowledge, wisdom, and leadership skills necessary to successfully guide your organisation to achieve outstanding results.

Assessment

Measure precisely how prepared your leaders are to take on more responsibility and tackle your most critical business challenges. We offer four tiers of assessments designed to build a robust pipeline of scalable leaders prepared to perform in large and complex enterprise roles.

Coaching and Development

Invest in your people to maximise performance today and accelerate readiness for future roles. We offer a wide range of interventions, from high-touch, one-to-one executive coaching to large-scale cohort-development programmes.

Board and CEO Services

Leadership starts at the top. To unlock the potential of your organisation, you need an aligned board and a CEO people want to follow. Our most experienced leadership consultants assist with board evaluations, CEO succession, CEO onboarding, and C-suite development.

Team Effectiveness

High-performing teams drive enterprise success. We benchmark your executive team against other high-performing teams and then coach the leader and the team via customised offsites that help get your team to the next level.

Culture of Belonging

Belonging is the strategic lever that supports talent growth and retention, high performance and agility, and organisational resilience. We help organisations build successful cultures of belonging through cultural and leadership assessments, development experiences, and ongoing support to enable sustainability.

Why work with us?

1

We are proudly independent, which enables a highly flexible approach and an inclusive, supportive culture.

2

We have a complementary mix of skilled behavioural scientists, innovators, and project and sector specialists.

3

We work with many of the world's leading companies, from large-scale public companies to many of the next-generation companies that are being funded by private equity and venture capital.

4

We have a global footprint, which ensures we can support your organisational leadership goals wherever you are.

5

We deliver a suite of leadership solutions for boards, CEOs, C-suite, emerging talent, and teams.

Let's talk

Our global network enables us to offer hands-on support to our clients wherever they operate throughout the world. Get in touch today to find out how we can support you in developing your people's potential.

Orla Leonard, MSc, CPsychol, AFBPsS
Senior Partner, Head of International Operations

oleonard@rhrinternational.com
+ 44 0779 695 0214

We shape leaders;
leaders shape the world.

www.rhrinternational.com